

About People And Things

It has a habit of doing. Complaints on all tent authorities say that the present damp spell has not yet seriously damaged the crop. A week or two of fair weather will make us almost forget that we have had an unseasonable wet spell. Let's all join in singing the happy chorus: "Frame Cool From Whom All Blessings Flow."

HAD SITUATION—Although the growing season is young and only about one-third of the expected crop is in, the weathermen are bulging with Government-owned cotton and there is no room to take care of the new crop. The Government has promised for several weeks to move its cotton but has done nothing more than promise. It is a bad situation and one that is causing some trouble. Peter Talbot, Foster Bryan, J. L. Morrow & Sons and others no end of worry.

RUMI ORDERED—The Dorey factory is running full blast, day and night, getting out rich orders for the popular Dorey trailer. Although competition is keen, the local product has become famous throughout the world and enjoys the reputation of being the best on the market.

Chalk up another mark for Elba leadership.

SEARCH—It noticed recently an account of the opening of the starch factory in Laurel, Miss., where 200 people are employed in making starch from sweet potatoes. Last year, Dr. Ringgold and Forest Talbot became interested in the matter and made considerable investigation. A C. L. Agent Almon Strain took up the question with his railroad. A comprehensive report was received by Mr. Strain, who in turn put it into the hands of Dr. Ringgold and Mr. Talbot. The Elba Chamber of Commerce ordered its secretary, Mr. J. V. Wright, to communicate with authorities in Washington. All the replies were to the effect that the Laurel project was in the experimental stage, but was being watched with great deal of interest throughout the country. Coffee County is one of the heaviest sweet potato producing sections in the country and every year thousands of bushels go begging for want of a profitable market. Let's continue to watch results at Laurel this season. It may have an important industry may be built up in Elba.

STILL TALKING—Complimentary reports continue to come in from visitors at Elba's homecoming week. It probably did more to advertise our city than anything that has been pulled off in its history. Numerous persons have suggested that by all means it should be made an annual event.

PUBLIC LIBRARY—Healed by Mr. O. Smith of the Pine Level community, a number of our citizens are agitating a movement to establish a public library in Elba. Mr. Smith has plenty of proof in support of his claim that lack of wholesome reading matter is one of the great causes for the prevailing restlessness and criminal tendencies among the youth of our country. There is no doubt but that Mr. Smith is correct and anything that that column can do to help the project will be cheerfully forthcoming. A public library would be of incalculable benefit to this community.

DAVIS STILL PREACHING—Prof. Fred Kendrick has returned to his home in Greenville, S. C., after a tour of duty in Elba.

ELMORE COUNTY FARMER IS SHOT TO DEATH BY NEGRO

TALLASSEE, Ala., Aug. 26.—(AP) Elmore, 29-year-old farmer, died in a hospital here Sunday afternoon from bullet wounds said by officers to have been inflicted by a negro tenant farmer during an argument over a debt at Elmore farm, five miles from Tallassee, Sunday morning.

Sheriff W. A. Austin of Elmore County was holding Torrie Harrell, negro, who surrendered to a citizen near the scene of the shooting while a posse and bloodhounds were combing the country for him. He is in jail at Wetumpka.

According to reports from officers and citizens, Harrell, who worked on the Elmore farm, said a bale of cotton Saturday and failed a settlement with Elmore Sunday morning about 9 o'clock. Elmore went over to the negro's home to get his share of the money.

Elmore had "stood" for a $250 debt the negro owed a store, and Elmore asked him if he had paid this debt with the cotton money.

It was said, the negro replied that he had paid it and Elmore suggested that they both go to the store and verify the payment. Elmore was stated. At this point, the negro is said to have pulled a .22-caliber pistol from his pocket, handed it to Elmore, and a moment later whipped out a .45 caliber pistol and began firing at Elmore.

Elmore fell with a bullet through his lung and one through his arm.

The negro fled.

The young farmer was brought to a hospital here before noon and died there at 5 p.m.

NEW FEATURE
"The Story of the Constitution"
BY CALEB JOHNSON

Citizens of the United States have become intensely government-minded during the last half-dozen years.

Today, every fellow and his brother has a decided opinion on this or that of government, from township to national affairs.

Right now, there is much discussion—and there is going to be a lot more in the weeks and months ahead—about "the Constitution."

Caleb Johnson, Autocaster News Service staffman, listened to the growing volume of discussion over the Constitution and reached the conclusion that an awful lot of folks would welcome an accurate, unbiased and non-partisan story of the Constitution so they might better know the facts upon which to base discussion.

Mr. Johnson has written a most remarkable fact-story of how the Constitution came into being and all of the interesting detail of its 148 years of existence, 1787 to 1935.

"THE STORY OF THE CONSTITUTION," by Caleb Johnson, will be featured in THE ELBA CLIPPER in weekly installments, beginning this week.

In our opinion, it is a timely feature in which every public-spirited citizen will look forward to. Begin it this week and then follow Mr. Johnson in his study of this important subject.
